Orderflows Trader Quick Start Guide

When loading Orderflows Trader the first time, we recommend a setting of 1 day of data to load when you create a new chart. This will enable the Orderflows Trader chart to load quicker.

Orderflows Trader load 1 Tick, 1 Tick – Ask, and 1 Tick – Bid so loan can be very long depending on 'Days to Load' setting.

After Installing the NinjaTrader script. You can either use the template provided called "Mikes OFT" or you can load the indicator by choosing it from the list of Indicators. It should be the first one to appear. It is called Order Flows Trader.

Please see the guide "How Do I Load A Template In NinjaTrader" if you want to upload my own personal custom template. My template does not utilize the Volume Profile even though it is available.

Number 1 = Block Trade Settings – This section is currently being developed to be implemented in the Orderflows Trader script in the future.

Number 2 = Footprint Ladder – You can change the colors of the bid /ask. If you want a grid on your chart, you can change it from white to grey. In this section is where you can change the ratio settings. My personal default is 28 for the high and 0.6999 for the low. The default color is blue and the font is 9pt bold which is a little bigger than normal so it stands out.

Number 3 = General Parameter – Font size and color.

Number 4 = Summary – For the delta, bid, ask numbers running along the bottom of the chart.

Number 5 = Summary Content – True if you want these items to appear on your chart. False if you don't want them on your chart. Also these items can be enabled from the top menu of your chart.

Number 6 = Unfinished Business – If you want to enable unfinished business on your chart. Default setting is false.

Number 7 = Volume Imbalance – Ask/Bid text color when there is an imbalance. You can choose to have stacked buying and stacked selling imbalance clusters to appear on your chart and their colors. The box size is how many bars out you want it to appear. Imbalance cluster size is the minimum number of stacked imbalance clusters you want to use for your imbalance zones. Imbalance Trigger In Percent is the percentage in volume traded for the imbalance to occur. Default setting is 400%. Imbalance Volume Threshold is the minimum size for the imbalance to appear, default is set to 10; in quiet markets when 1 lot trades against 6 lots it won't appear since the volume of the imbalance is not greater than 10 lots. Single print box colors can be changed as well as font size.

Number 8 = Volume Profile – Settings for the Volume Profile if you choose to display it on your chart.

Number 9 = Data – Default set to False so indicators will show up as they appear. No need to change any of these settings.

Number 10 = Visual – Settings for the Orderflows Trader chart to appear in your chart window. No need to change and of these setting.
